The Wrong Verdict.

A fresh anecdote of John T Raymond, never before printed, is related by one who was a member of his dramatic company and who is now in this city It was in 1877 that Raymond, as the immortal Sellers, was doing the Western country At Evansville Ind., the house was filled, and the audience, the critics say, was en rapport with the actors The play went along swimmingly until the denouement was reached This it is well known, occurs in the jury scene which closes the drama At every village a new jury is obtained from the populace Leading persons of the place are sometimes honored with a position in the box, and it was so at Evansville The collection was one of the finest ever on the stage—doctors lawyers and such like The foreman was a six foot Kentuckian and a Judge too He had for years adorned the bench, and was never known to quail in public It was from his mouth that not guilty was to be received, and he had been duly cautioned as to his lines As soon as the verdict is rendered S Ells throws up his hat, hugs the actors and performs many wonderful side plays after which the curtain descends At Evansville Raymond did his prettiest gyrating before the Judge like a madman and luring the jury in his inimitable manner When the case had closed and the jury were directed to return the customary verdict of not guilty the foreman the six foot Kentuckian and Judge to boot was attacked with stage fright and startled everybody by shouting

Guilty

What? inquired the disconcerted Sellers

Guilty said the biggest old foreman thinking he was doing him it and the Evansville party good

In vain Raymond urged that no verdict was plainly guilt The more the plaintiff couldn't prove it was bad But neither was no chance for that thrown out the jury The audience went into convulsions and were followed by the jury Just then Raymond began to swear at the poor old foreman Artist Raymond has since been in despair but he can't get a jury to run counter to the one which acted on the principle of 'woe to the vanquished' Where upon the jury was finally dismissed

Not guilty

The curtain up the lately accused was congratulated by the entire company and both the audience and applause to the author Hon Dr Kentuckian, however was not to be consoled for the loss of his favorite character New York Mail

The Origin of the Sleeping Car.

Mr. W. Barnet Le Van, M. E., of Philadelphia, says

From all accounts, no doubt, Napoleon I. used in 1815, the first "sleeping, dining room and parlor car" that was ever built This car, or chariot, was presented to the Prince Regent of England, by whom it was afterwards sold to Mr. Bullock for $12,500. It eventually found its way to Madame Tussaud's Wax work Exhibition, London, where it may still be seen This very curious and convenient chariot of the First Emperor was built by Symons, of Brussels, for the Russian campaign, and is adapted for the various purposes of a pantry and a kitchen, for it had places for holding and preparing refreshments, which, by the aid of a lamp, could be heated in the carriage. It served also for a bedroom, a dressing-room, an office, etc. The seat is divided into two by a partition about six inches high The exterior of this ingenious vehicle is of the form and dimensions of our large coaches, except that it has a projection in front of about two feet, the right-hand half of which is open to the inside to receive the feet, thus forming a bed, while the left hand half contained a store of various useful things Beyond the projection in front and nearer to the horses, was the seat for the coachman, ingeniously contrived so as to prevent the driver from viewing the interior of the carriage, and yet so placed as to afford those within a clear sight of the horses and of the surrounding country Beneath this seat is a receptacle for a box, about two and one-half feet in length and four inches deep, containing a bedstead of polished steel, which could be fitted up in a couple of minutes Over the front windows is a roller blind of strong painted canvas, which, when pulled out, excluded rain, while it admitted air (This might be an advantageous appendage to our present car windows as well as carriages.) On the ceiling of the carriage is a network for carrying small traveling requisites In a recess there was a secretaire, ten by eighteen inches, which contained nearly a hundred articles presented to Napoleon I. by Maria Louise, under whose care it was fitted up with every luxury and convenience that could be imagined It contained beside the usual requisites for a dressing box, most of which were of solid gold, a magnificent breakfast service, with plates, candle sticks, knives, spoons, a spirit lamp for making breakfast in the carriage, gold case for Napoleon's gold wash hand basin, a number of essence bottles, perfumes and an infinite variety of minute articles, down to pins, needles, thread and silk Each of these articles were fitted into recesses most ingeniously contrived and made in the solid wood, in which they were packed close together, and many one within the other, in such a narrow space that, on seeing them arranged, it appeared impossible for them ever to be put into so small a compass At the bottom of his toilet box, in divided recesses, were found 2,000 gold Napoleons ($7,700), on the top of it were writing materials, a looking glass, combs, etc., a liquor case, which had two bottles, one of Malaga wine, the other of rum, a silver sandwich box, containing a plate, knives, spoons, pepper and salt boxes, mustard pot, decanter, glasses, etc., a wardrobe, writing desk, maps, telescopes, arms, etc., a large silver chronometer, by which the watches of the army were regulated; two merino mattresses, a green velvet traveling cap, also a diamond head dress, (tiara), hat, sword, uniform and an imperial mantle, etc.—Iron Age

When Coal Was Discovered in America.

There is strong reason to believe that the first discovery of coal on this continent was made in Illinois, by the early French explorers, some time between 1673 and 1680 James McFarlane, author of the "Coal Regions of America," says "It is remarkable that the first discovery of coal in America, of which there is any account in a printed book, was made so far in the interior as Illinois, by Father Hennepin, more than two hundred years ago" Hennepin's map, accompanying the edition of his journal published in 1698, locates a coal mine in the bluffs of the Illinois River, near Ottawa, where an inferior quality of bituminous coal comes to the surface Referring to this record left by Hennepin, R C. Taylor, another high authority in economic geology, says "This is the earliest notice on record of the existence of coal in America.—Chicago Inter-Ocean

HON. JASON ROGERS FOR SENATOR.

The district convention held at Lincoln yesterday, as was generally expected, nominated Hon. Jason Rogers, of this city, for senator from the twenty-ninth district. Mr. Rogers has served the people well in the lower house one term, making a record that his constituents need not be ashamed to point to as an evidence of what may be expected of him in the senate. He is a Republican of the most pronounced convictions, and will faithfully represent the sentiments of the people who elect him. He has lived in Macon county nearly a quarter of a century, and the people know him to be a man of sound business views and practical habits of thought. He will make a good senator.

The twenty-ninth district is Republican by only a small majority at best, and the Democrats, who seem to have determined on a sort of still hunt for the purpose of capturing the legislature and the next United States senator, will leave no scheme untried to compass the defeat of Mr. Rogers. It behooves all Republicans, therefore, to spare no effort to poll the full party vote for the candidate nominated yesterday, and thereby secure his triumphant election. The issue is important: the senator elected in November will have a voice in the selection of two United States senators—one in 1883 and another in 1885—and when this fact is considered the value of votes becomes apparent.

MASONIC CEREMONIES.

What is to be Done in Decatur on Thursday.

For the information of the public and to attract immediate inquiries, the committee on arrangements deem it proper to say through our columns that invitations have been issued to all the Masonic bodies in this and adjoining counties to visit us on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple, and that from responses received up to this time (about ten hundred Masons are expected to be here and take part in the ceremonies, along with our resident Masons. All the Masons, on their arrival, will be received at the depot by a number of the people and committee and escorted to some one of the halls selected for their use and there served with lunch by the entertainment committee at the Tabernacle, from 11 to 1 o'clock. The procession will be on South Main street, at two o'clock, as already published, and after following the route laid down, will arrive at the site of the new temple, where the ceremony of laying the corner stone will take place, occupying about an hour. The ceremonies will be done with appropriate music by Goodman's band, and will be only enlivened with music and the singing of selections by a choir of some forty voices, under the leadership of Prof. Lutz.

In the evening a banquet will be served to the lady Masons and the brethren and strangers are invited. Masons must wear the white badge to be distributed on the reception committee, to entitle them to admission. The lower floor will not be admitted. The doors of the banquet room will not be open for admission until 7:30. The Worthy Master of Macon Lodge No. 5 will preside. After the banquet, or at 9 o'clock, a reception and promenade concert will be held at Goode's Armory. Music by Goodman's string band. To this all Masons and their wives and daughters are invited. No special invitations are issued to the banquet or promenade concert.

In Honor of a Guest.

Last evening a very pleasant social party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Ehrhart, at No. 21 Macon street, in honor of their guest, Mrs. Enos Scarborough, of Shelbyville, Ill., cousin of Mrs. E. The company included relatives of the family, and Major I. W. Willmeth and Miss Wills, of Bloomington; Fred Wilmeth, of Kansas City, Mo.; Hon. and Mrs. T. J. Abel, Mr. and Mrs. James Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Baker, Miss Anna Moffitt, Bert J. Hardy and others. An abundance of toothsome refreshments were served party fashion at 11 o'clock, and during the evening the Wilhelmy Band furnished music for the dancers. Mr. Fred Wilmeth delighted the company with a splendidly executed duet on a French harp and a piano. He was rapturously applauded.

Pictures of Masons.

Yesterday Mr. Dick Piper, the enterprising photographer, received the largest instrument ever brought to Decatur. It is now at his gallery, and will be used tomorrow in photographing the historical scene to be witnessed at the relaying of the corner stone. The whole view will be caught from several points of observation. Mr. Piper will mount the views upon cards 16x20 inches in size, and will have them on sale at his gallery, opposite post office block. Masons and others wishing copies of these views should leave orders at the gallery.

The Republican Senatorial Convention at Lincoln Yesterday.

The Republican senatorial convention of the 29th district was held at Lincoln on Tuesday, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. The following delegates were present:

Logan county—Joe Hodnett, Ed Beaver, D. K. Turley, Abel Larrison, D. Van Hise, J. T. Galford, T. J. Chestnut.

Macon county—M. F. Kanan, C. F. Emery, G. W. Russell, I. R. Mills, D. C. Corley, A. W. Wells, Frank Shull, Wm. Taylor, R. M. Hamilton.

The convention was called to order by J. A. Brown, of Decatur, and on motion C. F. Emery, of Macon, was elected chairman, and F. B. Mills, of Lincoln, was chosen secretary. Mr. Hodnett presented the name of Hon. Jason Rogers, of Decatur, as a candidate for senator, and on motion the nomination was made by acclamation. A committee of two, M. F. Kanan and D. C. Corley, was appointed to inform Mr. Rogers by telegraph of his nomination, but the committee could not get the Lincoln operator to send the message to Decatur within two or three hours after it was filed, and so the dispatch was withdrawn from the office. In the meantime the Logan delegates called upon ex-Gov. Oglesby to address the convention, and he spoke in high terms of Mr. Rogers as a careful business man, as a man specially qualified for the position of state senator. Mr. Oglesby also assured the convention that Mr. Rogers would accept the nomination.

On motion of Mr. Hodnett a senatorial and representative committee was appointed as follows: J. A. Brown and D. C. Corley, of Macon, and Joseph Hodnett and D. Van Hise, of Logan. After the adjournment of the convention this committee met and elected John A. Brown chairman and Joseph Hodnett secretary. This committee will serve for two years.

Letter of Acceptance.

To Messrs. M. F. Kanan and D. C. Corley, committee:

Having been informed to day by you of my nomination at Lincoln on Tuesday as the Republican candidate for State Senator in this (the 29th) senatorial district, I take this method of informing you and the voters of the district that I accept the nomination. If elected, it shall be my greatest concern to defend the principles of Republicanism and to zealously guard and represent the interests of my constituents and of the people generally. Thanking the people and the convention for the honor conferred upon me, I am,

Truly yours, JASON ROGERS.

Another Letter from F. L. Wood.

CLEAR LAKE, IOWA, AUG. 7, '82.

EDS. REPUBLICAN:—We are now enjoying a fine musical treat. Some of the best singers in the United States are here; almost every city from Boston to San Francisco is represented. Last night we had the pleasure of hearing Litta—she is the star so far. On Tuesday night next the prizes will be awarded among 40 or 50 competitors; the exercises close on Wednesday with the best band from Chicago.

We scarcely realize that we are away from Decatur friends—we meet them on every corner. Twenty came in on one train and a great many from Illinois; they all seem to enjoy themselves very well.

Mrs. Simms bought a nicely furnished cottage here and expects to make it her summer residence.

We are having very cool weather this week.

Farmers are just beginning to harvest their oats. A little wheat has been cut, but not very much. Corn is small and very late, but the potato crop is the finest I ever saw and are selling for 40 cents per bushel.

We were out fishing to-day and caught some very fine bass, pickerel and pike.

Some of our party think of starting for home next week; others talk of staying a month. It has been almost too cool the past week to be pleasant. We have had no warm weather since we came here. We think some of going to Spirit Lake, Minn.; if we do not go we will be home in a short time. F. L. WOOD.

A Poetical Greenback.

Yesterday F. W. Wismer showed us a greenback two dollar bill which has been carried by Benton Blackstone for sixteen long years. The bill is a curiosity in its way. On the face are printed these expressive lines, penned by the "Bard of the Chariton Democrat:"

I'm genuine beyond all doubt,
And by the oldest men about.
O'er land or sea I'm all the same,
And Legal Tender is my name.
By which I'm known where'er I go,
Among the high, among the low.
I buy your bread, I buy your meat,
And all things else you wear and eat;
I give contentment here on earth,
And fill the weary soul with mirth;
Besides you know the Preachers say
I buy you everlasting day.
I therefore warn you snobs and wags
No more to call me Lincoln Rags.

Proclamation.

In accordance with the desire of many of our citizens I hereby request that all business houses close between the hours of one and four o'clock p. m., on Thursday, August 10th, during the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the new Masonic Temple.

ADJOURNED.

Congress Quits its Squabbling and Goes Home.

The Twelfth District Democratic Convention.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The senate voted to adjourn sine die at 3 o'clock p. m. The vote against adjournment came from Republicans. The Democrats and Cameron (Wis.), Chilcott, Plumb, Sawyer (Ill.) voted to adjourn.

Anthony and Bayard were appointed to notify the president that congress would adjourn to-day.

At 3 o'clock p. m. the presiding officer made a brief speech of thanks and adjourned the senate.

HOUSE.

After the reading of the journal Hiscock moved to take recess for an hour.

When the house reassembled Hiscock reported that the committee had waited upon the president who said he had no further communication to make to congress.

The hour of three having arrived, Speaker Keifer addressed the house as follows:

"This house is about to terminate its first session. It has been an important one to the country. With thanks for generous and kind treatment on the part of the house and my best wishes for all its members, regardless of party, I now, as authorized and required by a concurrent resolution of the senate and house of representatives, declare this house adjourned without day. [Lond applause.]

After spending about half an hour in handshaking and taking leave of each other, the members left the hall, many of them going direct to depots.

President Arthur, accompanied by his son, Secretary Folger and Atty. Gen'l Brewster, arrived at the capital at a quarter past two and proceeded to the president's room, where Secretaries Lincoln and Chandler were already in waiting. The president was kept busy for half an hour or more signing various bills submitted for signatures. All bills presented the president were signed and reported back to congress before adjournment.

The president decided to make his trip to New York by water, and will probably start Thursday.

The Cabinet held a short session to-day, but considered only measures requiring immediate attention.

As soon as the Senate adjourned many of its members visited the president's room and an informal reception took place, and congratulations were exchanged upon the termination of the long session.

CAIRO, Ill., August 8.—Up to 7 o'clock this morning 13 victims of the last night's steamboat disaster had died. The five lady passengers of the Gold Dust were all saved. Only one was slightly scalded. The twelve wounded are at Hickman, not being able to be moved. Ten of the dead are buried at Hickman. Some of the wounded have been brought here on the City of Alton. The citizens of Hickman very generously opened their houses for the injured.

The Gold Dust at the time of the explosion had a hundred persons on board. Eighteen are missing which are supposed to have gone down on the wreck.

The most complete list of those who died from the effects of scalds and other wounds received by the accident is as follows: Wm. A. Ingraham, or Ingram, third clerk; John Lytle, second pantryman; Wm. Travers, barkeeper; P. Winter, second porter; Jim Joyce, captain of the watch; Walter Howard, roustabout; Charles Williams, second barber; Manuel Victor, a deck passenger. The names of the missing are not known, as the books were lost, and the number may swell to twenty or thirty more.

BRANDSTOWN, Aug. 8.—The Democratic Congressional convention of the Twelfth district, which adjourned at Mt. Sterling on Saturday, after 1304 ineffectual ballots reconvened here to-day. After balloting ineffectually all day the convention adjourned till 8:30 a. m. to-morrow. The 1,449th ballot stood: Single ton 26, Wike 22, Withers 22.

CAIRO, Ill., Aug. 8.—This morning as the steamer Silver Thorn was taking a delegation of colored citizens to the emancipation celebration at Metropolis, Ill., George W. Tanner, a prominent colored politician, stabbed J. S. Leonard, editor of the Cairo Gazette, three times. The last and most dangerous cut it is thought will prove fatal. Tanner is in jail at Metropolis.

COMMITTEE.

THUS from the Mattoon Journal is rather pointed: "Macon county farmers complain because lightning rod sharps bulldoze them into signing contracts for putting up five times as much rod as they need. So long as honest farmers do not shoot such swindlers off of their farms our sympathies are with the sharpers."

IN the next thirty days I will give away a fancy china tea set, consisting of fifty six pieces, with one hundred cans of Coon Baking Powder. Try it.
Respectfully, PETER ULLRICH.

THE nomination of Hon. Jason Rogers as the candidate for state senator, by acclamation, at Lincoln, yesterday, cannot fail to receive the hearty endorsement of all republicans in this district. Mr. Rogers made an excellent representative and was active in his successful efforts in looking after the interests of the people of the entire district. The boards of supervisors of Tazewell and Moultrie counties passed resolutions complimenting Mr. Rogers for his stand on the congressional apportionment matter. He will make a good senator and will receive the votes of all republicans in the district.

THE CELEBRATED CASE.

Synopsis of the Testimony Thus Far in the Bond Outrage Case.

Conduct of the Crowd — Threats of Lynching.

Special to the DECATUR REPUBLICAN.

TAYLORVILLE, Aug. 8, P. M.

THE FATHER OF THE GIRL.

Mr. Bond, the father of Miss Emma Bond, is a very large, broad-shouldered, deep-chested man, who will weigh probably 260 or 300 pounds. He has a large partially bald head, wears burnside whiskers, and though a kindly light beams from his full blue eyes, he has, withal, a look fierce as a tiger's, showing most plainly in every lineament of his countenance "I am no man with which to trifle, and most certainly not a man to rest content under the most heinous wrong." He is quite convinced he has the right men, and a day or two before the examination began it was all his friends could do to restrain him from shooting those whom he believed had ruined his daughter.

THE PRISONERS.

John C. Montgomery is a man of medium height, probable weighs 160, wears chin whiskers, and has the general appearance of a farmer. He protests he is innocent; has lived in the vicinity of the outrage for some thirty years; and with the exception of once being a witness in a case, has never been in the court house as a litigant or connected with any litigation in his life. He is a married man with a family of two children.

Lee Pettis has quite a youthful appearance, is out on bond, and looks like the average farmer boy off the west. He was defendant in a breach of promise case some time since here.

Clementi is also youthful looking, wears a broad-brimmed slouch hat, and is still in jail.

Wm. J. Montgomery is tall, slender and rather squarely built, and has a lively and quite prepossessing air.

THE OPENING STATEMENTS.

Mr. Dreman made the opening speech, giving in substance what has been reported concerning the case.

That the affair occurred between four o'clock p. m., June 29th, and one o'clock a. m., June 30th.

That Miss Emma Bond, the teacher of the Montgomery school, was on the last day of the term, and about three o'clock in the afternoon she dismissed the school, which consisted of one little boy, and having swept the school house, completed her schedule, gathered her shawl, parasol and hat, was just beneath the scuttle hole, in the east end of the ceiling of the room, on the point of opening the door when a rustling was heard above and a man dropped from the loft to a position on the floor immediately behind her, choked her with one hand until she fainted and sank to the floor, when partially recovering, she says the shawl was bound tightly around her waist, and from the chair, which had been procured by her outrager from the other end of the room by the desk, she was lifted up by him, and with one hand the end of the shawl was lifted to an accomplice in the loft, who thus assisted to raise her up. She was then taken to the rear of the loft, about 30 feet distant from where they were, and the vile deed was then perpetrated.

There were two or three pieces of flooring and a piece of scantling upon the joists in the loft. Miss Bond had regained partial consciousness, and exclaimed while being carried back in the loft: "I will die before I submit to your base desires." One of the wretches said: "Oh, that is very easily done to kill you," and took from his pocket a knife and cut her with his left hand across the cheek extending to the side of the neck. She fainted again, and the inhuman wretches again and again outraged her.

When she again revived she was on the floor of the school house, her nose bleeding, evidenced by a pool of blood on the floor near her, and she then got up, and after several ineffectual attempts, finally reached the house of Mrs. Pettis, whence she was taken at her request by Clementi, Pettis and the latter's mother to her father's house, where she has since been.

The defense opposed the statement of the prosecuting attorney, and said that while a most shocking and horrible outrage had been committed, and they were in favor of meting out the severest punishment known to the law, yet the defendants arraigned, in their estimation and according to their belief, were not the guilty parties. Thus they would show before the time came for the introduction of their side of the testimony. Judge McCaskell made the opening speech.

The change of venue and opening statements consumed the morning, and court adjourned to 1.30 o'clock.

At the hour named the testimony began with the introduction of Abner D. Bond, the father of the unfortunate young lady. He testified to the facts as stated by the prosecuting attorney.

On the third question, which was as follows: "State what she did say in regard to being raped on that occasion," caused a long discussion which occupied a couple of hours. Finally the Justice decided that the witness could state what she did say on that occasion, which he did without implicating any of the defendants. In fact, the witness acknowledged that his daughter could not and did not identify any of the four men arrested.

ANOTHER ARREST.

At court adjourned at noon Dr. Vermilion was placed under arrest in the court room, which necessitated the subpenaing of ten more witnesses, making in all about one hundred and sixty.

The cross-examination of Mr. Bond was brief.

The next witness was Martin Swick, whose testimony was damaging to John Montgomery, Pettis and Clementi, in that he said Montgomery had admitted to him that Clementi had given the whole thing away, and that he and Clementi and Pettis must get together and fix up the same story, and also that Montgomery seemed very uneasy about the mob while at Grove City, and what it would do to him.

The cross-examination, conducted by Judge Thornton, rather took the force out of these statements, as it was elicited from the witness that what he said Montgomery admitted was more in the way of suggestions from Swick, and the further statement that the things Montgomery should have said were uttered in the presence of a third person named Heinlein.

Heinlein, the third witness, was put on the stand and partially examined by the State Attorney before adjournment. He said that the statements made by Swick concerning the admission of Montgomery was rather suggested by Swick and assented to by Montgomery, than originated by the latter. Heinlein's statement was somewhat weakened by the answer in the affirmative to the question as to his being a relative of Montgomery and Pettis. There the examination rests until to-morrow at 8 o'clock.

While no demonstrations of violence have taken place, still it is but the truth to say that there is a subdued determination generally shared that in the event of a conflict of testimony, which bids fair to be the case, on the finding of the Justice that the defendants should be held under bonds, a lynching will take place.

STREET MUTTERINGS.

It is heard on the street everywhere that an organization for the above purpose has been formed and that the guilty must surely suffer their just deserts. The crowd is difficult to keep within bounds. The railing about the bar was smashed in to-day and the corridors and lobbies leading to the court room have been all day filled with a seething, swelling mass of excited humanity.

It is thought by citizens of Taylorville that the crowd will be larger to-morrow and more difficult of restraint than to-day, but no outbreak is anticipated before the end of the testimony is reached. M.

SECOND SPECIAL.

TAYLORVILLE, ILL., AUG. 9, 8 A. M.

There are but few people on the streets this morning and it is thought that the terrible jam of yesterday will not be duplicated to-day.

Justice Ricks deserves commendation for the efficient manner in which he handled the excited crowd yesterday. A number of times during the hearing yesterday he stopped the examination and compelled the officers of the court to force the crowd back, and at other times made those in front kneel down so the railing around the bar would not be entirely crushed in. At other times by his order the doors were closed, shutting out the seething mass of humanity from those striving to gain a footing. It was estimated by good judges that there were at least 2000 people in town yesterday. At the present writing the court room is filling up and no doubt by noon yesterday's scenes will be again enacted. Strong braces have been placed inside the bar during the night in order that the railing may not be crushed in again. M.

A New Engine Started.

The most important event of the year at George Priest & Co.'s enlarged flouring mill, on East Main street, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, when Miss Ida Priest, youngest daughter of Mr. P., who is now 16 years old, started the new Saint Louis Corliss engine, which will furnish power for 36 rollers, four run of burrs and the cleaners in the mill. The big engine was started in the presence of a number of ladies and gentlemen. It is an improved piece of machinery, which cost about $4,000. Its capacity is 120 to 180 horse power, and is capable of moving the whole east end of Decatur. There was a general clapping of hands as the immense fly wheel began to revolve and the machinery on the four floors in the new mill commenced moving, and among the happiest of the crowd was Henry Stafford, the engineer, who will have charge of the new beauty. Geo. Priest & Co. are now well fixed to do business on a larger scale than ever. Their new mill has a capacity of turning out over 300 barrels of flour daily.

Our Coming County Fair

The work of putting the fair grounds in condition for holding our county fair, Sept. 5th to 8th inclusive, is progressing finely under the direction of the officers. The amphitheater is being thoroughly overhauled and put in excellent condition, the various buildings repaired, whitewashed and fitted up; pens for sheep and swine and cattle and horse stalls put in good condition, springs, cleaned, etc., etc. The outlook is most promising for the largest and most interesting fair that has been held in Macon county for a number of years. A large number of leading stock men in Macon and adjoining counties have signified their intention to be present and compete for the liberal premiums offered by the Board. The large number of liberal special premiums offered by our generous citizens will add considerably to the attractions of the coming fair, and the liberal premiums in the speed ring for trotting, running and pacing will bring out the best horses in Macon county and vicinity. The action of the Board in excluding gambling and the sale of intoxicating liquors from the ground will meet the hearty endorsement of fair going people. Good order will be preserved by an efficient force of police. We hope that every man, woman and child in Macon county will spend at least one day at the fair, and thereby make the exhibition a success, as it will deserve to be.

The "Reds" Victorious.

A fine audience of ladies and gentlemen, numbering several hundred, assembled at the park on yesterday afternoon to witness the fifth and deciding game between the Lincoln Reds and the Decatur Reds. The contest was closely contested, and considerable fine playing was done, particularly by the members of the home nine, who struck Radbourne for about a dozen base hits, and doing fine work on the bases and in the field, two flies being nabbed by Bickes and Shilling. The game ended with a score of 8 to 4 in favor of Decatur, our Reds defeating the Lincoln three times out of five. The score by innings was:

| | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Lincoln, | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 1 | —4 |
| Decatur, | 3 | 1 | 1 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 2 | 0 | * | —8 |

The visitors got but three poor base hits on Forrest, who is one of the most skillful pitchers that has played in Decatur; and Little Baldwin—well, he can't be be beat as a catcher. These two were splendidly supported by the Reds. Of the Lincoln nine only Radbourne and McLaughlin can be called good ball players, though they did no brilliant playing yesterday. The gate receipts footed up $82.

The Florence Herbert troupe was booked for that week, but owing to the illness of the star the date was cancelled.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Wood, together with about 15 other Decatur people, arrived home this morning from Clear Lake, Iowa, where they have been attending the camp meeting exercises. Mrs. J. G. Starr, Mrs. Gher and Mrs. R. C. Hamsher got off the same train at Bloomington to attend the prohibition state convention in session there to-day.

Dr. G. S. Allison, late of Mt. Zion, this county, writes us from Spokade Falls, Washington Territory, that he has permanently located at that place. The doctor writes: "We have the Minneapolis of the west. Our town has 1000 inhabitants and is growing very rapidly. The Spokane Falls have a fall of about 150 feet in 100 feet, and are pronounced by experts to be as fine water power as can be found anywhere. We are having quite a boom in town lots. Corner lots in the business part of town $2,000."

Tattooing in France.

The unprogressive and the criminal class in civilized countries have many characteristics in common with the savage. The superstitious beliefs and magical practices of Scotch and French peasants can hardly be distinguished from those of Fiji Islanders and Namaquas. But it rather surprises us, we confess, to find that, in France at least, the unprogressive classes freely tattoo themselves. The word tattoo is of South-Sea origin, and denotes the practice of covering the body with punctured designs, generally in colors. The savages of antique times in Britains, Germans, Africans, Asiatics tattooed themselves, as we learn, from various texts in Herodotus, Tacitus, Cæsar and other authors less renowned, quoted by M. Bertillon, in his "Histoire Medicale de Patonage." The study of savage tattooing has a double interest; it throws light on the early history of decorative art, and it illustrates the process by which almost all savage tribes come to conceive of themselves as descended from animals and afterwards worked out a rude system of heraldry, engraving their chests and coat armor on their naked bodies. On these topics we do not propose to enter to-day, but to follow Dr. Lacassagne's account of tattooing as a practice in the French army. His French criminals. It may not be true that if you catch a Russian you find a Tatar. The experiment might be dangerous and many think it superfluous. But at your ship's French soldier, especially the soldier who has served in Africa or who has often been under arrest, you certainly find the tattooed Arvin. Many pious pilgrims have themselves tattooed with sacred devices of Jerusalem. Dr. Lacassagne has copied the 'Livre d'un pilgrim' who assures him that the Grand Duke Nicholas was tattooed at the time of his marriage. There are probably tattooists in Paris and Lyons who charge one half franc for each design. Generally the tattoo is in designs on paper, and produces a fine effect. La Lyonnaise produces a good deal. A representation of an Indian holding up the flag of the United States is perfectly magnificent. Dr. Lacassagne has collected 33 designs, but does not include the Second Empire. Many men under arrest or military prisoners. Most of the men are of the criminal classes, who pass a good deal of time under arrest and therefore had some time to devote to decorative art. Many were tattooed on every part of the body, except the last and the thumb. Pall Mall Gazette.

A Novel and Perfect Cure for Scrofula Salt Rheum, Cancer Etc

A discovery has recently been made which adds luster to the Nineteenth Century. It consists simply in an extract from the Red Clover Blossom, as extracted by J. M. Lodge & Co., Monroe, Mich., who have gone into the business largely in order to supply the increasing demand. I speak by Dr. A. J. STONER.

A slight testimonial

TOLEDO, OHIO, Jan. 17, 1882.

J. M. Lodge & Co., Monroe, Mich.

Gentlemen: My wife has for some time been afflicted with something like a scrofulous lesion, and found no relief until she got your Extract of Red Clover to try. I am happy to say she has experienced great relief. This is but a slight testimonial of my appreciation of your efforts in behalf of humanity, which you are welcome to use for their benefit. I am very respectfully, H. ARMS.

Chandler, and will next week open a shoe store on Prairie street, in the room lately occupied by H. Singleton, where they will make to order first class boots and shoes. They guarantee satisfaction to all who may favor them with their patronage, and respectfully invite the public to call upon them. july18 d&wtf

Carlyle and the Railway Smoker.

Kildare Railway, big blockhead, sitting with his dirty feet on seat opposite, not stirring them for me, who wanted to sit there. "One thing we're all agreed on," said he, "we're very ill governed, Whig, Tory, Radical, Repeater, all admit we're very ill governed!" I thought to myself, "Yes, indeed; you govern yourself. He that would govern you well, would probably surprise you much, my friend—laying a hearty horsewhip over that back of yours." "No smoking allowed," passengers had erased the "No." Coarse young man entering, took out his pipe and smoked without apology. Second class, went no more in that.—From "Reminiscences of My Irish Journey."

Marble Heads in a Gold Mine.

Dr. Cary Cox has a gold mine in Cherokee County. The other day the hands were sinking a shaft, and when six feet below they came upon two pieces of marble hewn into the shape and size of the human head. The work had evidently been done with good tools and, while not entirely finished, showed that it was a skilled artist who handled the chisel. The heads were found under six feet of clay, which, to all appearances, had never been disturbed and lay directly upon a bed of slate. Near the mine is a bed of marble, such as the heads are hewn from. The question is, who made the heads and how did they get under six feet of clay?—Atlanta Constitution.

Is the Moon Inhabited?

From what is now known of the moon it is certain that if that body is inhabited it must be by beings organized very differently from the human race or any animals on the earth. The moon is without water and without atmosphere and, owing to the fact that it revolves on its axis but once a month, so that the lunar days and nights are each nearly thirty times as long as our days and nights, the extremes of heat and cold range every month from 400 degrees Fahrenheit above zero to 300 below. In the midst of such conditions no form of animal or vegetable life known to this planet could possibly exist, and it is generally agreed among astronomers that the moon is utterly barren of life in any form.

THE experiment of using Indian elephants to carry heavy burdens in traveling through the wilds of Africa has been tried by the African traveler, Banian, and pronounced a success. The pioneer's boast travels well and in proof against the tormenting and poisonous insects of that country.

A CLERGYMAN, in a lecture on "How to Get Married," said: "Every man wants a wife, and every woman wants a husband. But the great difficulty is that the woman the man wants won't have him, and the man the woman wants wants one other woman."

A Vexed Clergyman

Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and under a young contestant's influence while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet how very easy could this be avoided by simply using Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial bottles given away at Hubbard & Swearingen's Drug Store. dkw 2
